Arkansas State Red Wolves at App State Mountaineers

Game Time: 6:00pm ET

TV: TV: ESPN+

Selection: Appalachian State -5

The Arkansas State Red Wolves and the Appalachian State Mountaineers meet today in the Sun Belt Tournament from Pensacola Bay Center.

App State comes off a hard fought win last night, building their win streak to eight games. They have now scored 80 or more points in three straight games. The Mountaineers led up in the game last night and got a subsequent scare by Georgia Southern. Coach Dustin Kerns, who has done an outstanding job this year, will have them more focused for this rematch today with Arkansas State.

In the last meeting between these teams only 9 days ago, Appalachian State took a dominant home win 80-57. The Mountaineers shot 49 percent from the field in that one and had a 48-38 edge in rebounding. The Red Wolves were awful on offense all around with 35 percent from the field, 19 percent from 3-point range and absolutely dreadful 4 for 14 (28.6 percent) from the line. They simply don't match up well against the far superior team in the Mountaineers. In that game on March 1, App State also had 7 blocks to 1 block for the Red Wolves.

The Red Wolves have a porous defensive, ranked 248th in the country, and they are one of the worst free-throw shooting teams, hitting just under 70 percent on the season. Those deficiencies will work against them facing a team that is going for their 28th win on the season. Take the Mountaineers and lay the points.
