BROWN BEARS VS. YALE BULLDOGS

Game Time: 12:00pm ET

TV: ESPN

Selection: Over 134

We'll head to the Ivy League for one of the final games before the NCAA tournament bracket is revealed. This conference tournament got a seismic shakeup Saturday, as Brown knocked off top-seeded Princeton in an absolute shocker.

Given Brown's recent form, though, perhaps it shouldn't have been quite so jarring. The Bears have now won seven games in a row, and their offense has come alive. They've scored at least 66 points in each of those seven games, and they've scored 71 or more points in six of them. They shot nearly 56% from the floor Saturday, they've shown an affinity for shooting lots of threes, and I think they'll keep Yale honest.

The Bulldogs, meanwhile, never broke much of a sweat in a 69-57 win over Cornell. They've scored at least 69 points in all but two games since the start of the 2024 calendar year. That's a stretch of 16 games, and they've surpassed 75 points on 10 of them. Make no mistake, Yale can score, too.

We don't necessarily think these two teams are headed for a bona fide track meet Sunday at Columbia's gym. However, this total seems significantly lower than it should be. These two offenses are playing their best basketball of the season right now, and it seems likely they'll score plenty of points Sunday with an NCAA tournament berth on the line.
